

Abstract

An organic EL panel comprises a light-transmitting supporting substrate having formed thereon an organic EL device comprising an organic layer 5 having at least a luminescent layer 5c, sandwiched with a pair of electrodes. The luminescent layer 5c comprises a host material 5f having added thereto a fluorescent material 5g and a transport material (hole transport material) as guest materials.